

John Henry Alston, MA

Unknown - 1981

M.A. Psychology, 1920
Clark University

J. Henry Alston was the first African-American psychologist to have his research published in an exclusively Psychological journal, the American Journal of Psychology. His article, "Fusion of Cold and Warmth into Heat," was published in 1920. Alston served as Dean at Alabama A&M College and Johnson C. Smith University. He was also a Reverend Minister and Pastor of Jubilee Temple, C.M.E. Church in Fort Worth, Texas. He was an active member of his community and lifelong education advocate.