

Olivia Juliette Hooker, Ph.D.

1915 - 2018

Ph.D. Psychology, 1961
University of Rochester

Dr. Olivia Hooker was the survivor of the Tulsa Race Massacre. She was the first African-American to serve in active duty in the United States Coast Guard and was a distinguished professor of Psychology at Fordham University. Dr. Hooker helped found the American Psychological Association's Division 33 which is focused on the needs of people with developmental and intellectual disabilities.